FORMULAS THAT TRANSFORM DAMP TURBIDITY

Formula Name	Herbs and Functions	Diagnosis	Indications	Comments
A PING WEI SAN Calm the ST Powder	C Cang Zhu 2500g (12-15g) best substance for dispelling damp and strengthening the transporting fx of SP D Hou Po 1560g (9-12g) dispels damp and disperses fullness. Synergistic w/ Cang Zhu to dry damp and strengthen SP. Dampness causes qi to stagnate; regulating qi transforms damp A Chen Pi 1560g (9-12g) regulates qi and thereby transforms dampness; assists Hou Po in directing rebellious qi down and elim distention and revives SP & improves appetite	Damp cold stagnating in the SP and ST	Distention and fullness in the epigastrium and abdomen, loss of taste and appetite, a heavy sensation in the limbs, loose stool or diarrhea, easily fatigued, increased desire to sleep, nausea and vomiting, belching, acid regurgitation T: swollen, thick white greasy coat P: moderate or slippery	Dries dampness, improves the SP's transporting fx, promotes the movement of qi, and harmonizes the ST Representative formula for damp cold in the M.J. Cardinal sx: dist and fullness in epi and abd, thick white greasy coat More suited to excess type b/c Cang Zhu is used rather than Bai Zhu Source text used for fullness in chest and SOB: now used for coronary artery disease w/ similar presentation

	E Zhi Gan Cao 900g (3-6g) tonifies SP; harmonizes and enhances other herbs SP tonifying properties E Sheng Jiang and E Da Zao mildly reg and harmonize relationship b/w SP and ST
B HUO XIANG ZHENG QI SAN Agastache Powder to Rectify the Qi	C Huo Xiang 90g (12g) acrid and aromatic; disperses wind cold, transforms turbid damp, revives SP, stops vomit D Hou Po 60g (9g) and D Chen Pi 60g (9g) reinforce chief's actions in M.J. Hou Po moves qi and promotes proper water metab to expand the chest and reduce fullness and stifling; Chen Pi reg qi, transforms damp, harmonizes fx's of M.J. D Zi Su Ye 30g (6g) and D Bai Zhi 30g (6g) help chief dispel externally contracted cold. Zi Su Ye strong ext releaser that harmonizes M.J.; Bai Zhi effective for HA A Ban Xia 60g (9g) harmonizes ST and stops vomit A Da Fu Pi 30g (9g) fx's like Hou Po, but in L.J. Both herbs act on qi mech in M.J. and L.J. and reinforce chief which acts on U.J. A Bai Zhu 60g (12g) and A Fu Ling 30g (9g) strongly strengthen SP and resolve damp A Jie Geng 60g (9g) promotes proper fx'ing of LU and diaphragm which strengthens actions of chief E Zhi Gan Cao 75g (3g) and E Sheng Jiang 3-6g and E Da Zao 1pc harmonize; reg SP and ST	Externally contracted wind cold with concurrent internal injury due to stagnation of fluids from SP defic	Fever and chills, HA, sensation of fullness and stifling oppression in the chest, pain in the epigastrium and abdomen, nausea and vomiting, borborygmus, diarrhea, loss of taste T: white greasy coat P: moderate soggy Used for mild cases of miasmatic malarial disorder (thought to be contracted from the mists of the mountains and forests) – intermittent, fever, chills, disorientation, madness w/ delirious speech or loss of voice	Releases the exterior, transforms dampness, regulates qi, and harmonizes the M.J. Huo Xiang, Zi Su Ye and Bai Zhi release the ext; Hou Po, Da Fu Pi and Chen Pi promote movement of qi internally; Zi Su Ye, Bai Zhi and Jie Geng produce an ascending action; Fu Ling, Ban Xia and Da Fu Pi cause the turbid, rebellious qi to descend Commonly used to treat sudden turmoil disorder Combo of Ping Wei San and Er Chen Tang Chen Xiu-Yuan: "the qi of any of the 4 seasons that does not arrive at its proper time enters thru the nose and mouth; diff from pathogenic qi which enters thru the skin, therefore, do not use sweating method, use aromatic herbs that promote proper flow of qi" Used for severe internal accum w/ only mild ext sx

FORMULAS THAT WARM AND TRANSFORM WATER AND DAMPNESS

Formula Name	Herbs and Functions	Diagnosis	Indications	Comments
B ZHEN WU TANG True Warrior Decoction	C Fu Zi 9g very hot, acrid, restores KI yang and enables KI to resume fx of transforming water D Bai Zhu 6g and D Fu Ling 9g strengthen SP and promote urination; Fu Ling also drains damp A Sheng Jiang 9g warms and dispels pathogenic water and thereby strengthens actions of deputies; it disseminates LU qi, warms ST and assist chief by dispelling damp that overflows into flesh and skin (by sweating). With the deputies, reinforce earth to control water, indirectly assisting chief in warming and strengthening KI yang A Bai Shao 9g preserves yin and alleviates pain; prevents dry hot herbs that promote urination from injuring yin. Ancient texts mention Bai Shao's ability to promote urination. Astringent quality not problem due to other herbs	(1)Retention of pathogenic fluids w/ KI yang defic or SP and KI yang defic L.J. water accum rebelling upward and affecting M.J. (2)wind cold at tai yang stage. When sweating doesn't alleviate fever, continuous loss of fluids depletes yang qi	(1)Abd pain aggrav by cold, urinary difficulty, deep aching and heaviness in extremities. May also be generalized edema, loose stools, dizziness, heavy sensation in head, palpitations, coughing, vomiting T: pale or dark, swollen, white slippery coat P: submerged thin forceless (2)externally contracted disorders w/ sweating that does not reduce the fever, palpitations in epigastrium, dizziness, shivering and trembling w/ unsteady appearance T: white slippery coat P: submerged thin forceless	Warms the yang and promotes urination Water is yin pathogen and requires assistance of yang to be properly transformed In this case source yang must be strengthened to reduce diffusion of yin. Must address root (KI) and branch (SP: by strengthening SP and draining dampness) Bai Bai Fu Fu Jiang Bai Shao acts like in Gui Zhi Tang to restrain sweating
BEI XIE FEN QING YIN Dioscorea Hypoglauca Decoction to Separate the Clear	C Bei Xie 12g treats cloudy urine by draining damp and transforming turbidity D Yi Zhi Ren 9g warms the KI yang thereby reducing frequency of urination A Wu Yao 9g warms KI and promotes movement of qi to transform water A Shi Chang Pu 9g transforms turbidity and elim damp and cold from defic in the UB	Cloudy painful urinary dysfx (gao lin) Due to cold from defic in the L.J. which causes turbid damp to pour down When KI qi is defic it can't stabilize or restrain water	Frequent urination w/ cloudy dense milky (resembling rice water), or greasy urine, fatigue	Warms the KI, drains dampness, and transforms and separates the turbid from the clear
JI MING SAN Powder to Take at Cock's Crow	C Bing Lang 7pcs (36-45g) directs rebellious qi down; used to expel the obstruction from dampness C Mu Gua 30g descending action; transforms damp, relaxes sinews, invigorates collaterals. Works w/ Bing Lang to drive out damp via stool, which ameliorates edema and pain of damp leg qi	Damp leg qi Caused by damp cold settling in legs and feet where it obstructs the channels and interrupts the smooth flow of qi and blood	Heavy and weak feet and calves w/ diffic walking. May also be numbness, cold, or pain (or both) in these areas, or ascending spasms. In severe cases there may also be a stifling sensation in the chest and nausea	Promotes the movement of qi, causes turbidity to descend, and transforms damp cold Herbs open U.J., clear the L.J. and spread the middle qi to produce a warming and ventilating action that facilitates the elimination of

(to combine body's yang (which is rising at this time) w/ yang of formula)	pain of damp leg qi D Wu Zhu Yu 6g disperses cold and causes turbidity to descend. W/ Mu Gua treats nausea and stifling chest from upsurge of leg qi; warms M.J. D Chen Pi 30g reg qi and strengthens SP, indirectly resolving dampness A Zi Su Ye 9g disperses w-c (qi descends) A Jie Geng 15g unblocks and disseminates LU qi. W/ Chen Pi benefits flow of LU qi which is essential to proper water metab (qi ascends) E Sheng Jiang 15g warms and disperses cold and thereby helps treat leg qi	channels can force the qi upwards		turbidity Damp leg qi: swelling (wind damp, damp cold, damp heat). This formula is for wind damp or damp cold. Most effective if taken in early stages Dry leg qi: withering flesh

FORMULAS THAT DISPEL WIND DAMPNESS

Formula Name	Herbs and Functions	Diagnosis	Indications	Comments
QIANG HUO SHENG SHI TANG Notopterygium Decoction to Overcome Dampness	C Qiang Huo 3g expels wind damp from upper parts of Tai Yang channel C Du Huo 3g expels wind damp from lower reaches of this chan. Effective pair for systemic wind damp D Gao Ben 1.5g and D Fang Feng 1.5g expel wind and damp from the exterior aspects of the tai yang ch, and reinforce actions of Qiang Huo, esp its ability to treat HA A Chuan Xiong 1.5g treats HA and invigorates blood, which helps relieve heaviness and pain A Man Jing Zi 0.9g treats HA E Zhi Gan Cao 1.5g harmonizes	Wind dampness in superficial aspects of body, the exterior and muscles Common in those who catch cold after sweating profusely, or who live in damp environment	Heavy and painful head, generalized sensation of heaviness, back or generalized pain, diffic in bending or rotating the trunk, mild fever, chills T: white coat P: floating	Expels wind and overcomes damp More effective than Jiu Wei Qiang Huo Tang in treating systemic wind dampness For mild ext sx and relatively severe generalized pain and heaviness Focus on expelling pathogen – more acute condition
JUAN BI TANG Remove Painful Obstruction Decoction from Medical Revelations	C Qiang Huo 3g and C Du Huo 3g relieve painful obstruction in upper and lower parts of body D Qin Jiao 3g and D Sang Zhi 9g and D Hai Feng Teng 9g expel wind dampness A Dang Gui 9g and A Chuan Xiong 2.1g invigorate blood which helps expel wind damp and stop pain	Joint pain due to local obstruction of qi from the effects of wind, dampness, and cold Painful obstruction (bi)	Joint pain that increases w/ cold and diminishes w/ warmth, possibly accom by a sensation of heaviness and numbness in the limbs T: thick white coat P: slow, possibly slippery	Removes wind dampness and alleviates painful obstruction Imp formula for relatively early stage painful obstruction Focus on expelling pathogen and tonification of blood and yang to promote circulation When treating wind it is good to treat the blood – moving blood will cause wind to die out

	and helps treat localized pain A Mu Xiang 2.4g revives the SP and is helpful in treating dampness, as this improves water metab E Rou Gui/Gui Zhi 1.5g improves circ of yang qi and helps direct other herbs to extremities, esp shoulders E Zhi Gan Cao 1.5g prevents injury to normal qi and harmonizes
B DU HUO JI SHENG TANG Angelica Pubescens and Sangjisheng Decoction	C Du Huo 9g expels wind, dampness, & cold from the L.J., bones, & sinews D Xi Xin 6g scatters cold in the channels and dispels wind dampness from sinews and bones to stop pain D Fang Feng 6g expels wind and overcomes dampness D Qin Jiao 6g relaxes sinews and expels wind and dampness A Sang Ji Sheng 6g (15-30g) (often substituted w/ Xu Duan) and A Du Zhong 6g and A,E Niu Xi 6g expel wind dampness and tonify the LV/KI. Also serves as envoy and directs herbs to lower ext. A Rou Gui 6g warms and unblocks channels, fortifies yang; thereby opens up lower back and is imp in treating lower back pain A Dang Gui 6g and A Chuan Xiong 6g and A Sheng Di Huang 6g and A Bai Shao 6g nourish/invigorate bl A Ren Shen 6g and A Fu Ling 6g strengthens SP to treat dampness E Zhi Gan Cao 6g tonifies middle qi and harmonizes	Painful obstruction w/ LV and KI defic. Cold predominant type Long-time w-c invasion retention in channels Other organs defic affects LV/KI	Heavy and painful sensation at fixed locations in the lower back and extremities accom by weakness and stiffness, an aversion to cold and attraction to warmth, palpitations, SOB. May also be paresthesias or numbness. T: pale w/ white coat P: thin weak slow	Expels wind dampness, disperses painful obstruction, and tonifies deficiency Proper tx of a chronic disease requires both that the normal qi be tonified and that the pathogen be dispelled Commonly used for treating chronic painful obstruction, esp of the bones and sinews, and is also used in treating atrophy disorder characterized by wasting of the lower extremities. Many substitute Shu Di for Sheng Di b/c it is stronger at tonifying blood "painful obstruction in the bones causes heaviness; in the blood vessels coagulation and loss of flow; in the sinews contractions w/ an inability to extend joints; in the muscles numbness" Juan Bi Tang treats upper bi, this formula treats lower

FORMULAS THAT WARM THE CHANNELS AND DISPERSE COLD

Formula Name	Herbs and Functions	Diagnosis	Indications	Comments
B DANG GUI SI NI TANG Tangkuei Decoction for Frigid Extremities	C Dang Gui 9g tonifies and invig blood C Gui Zhi 9g warms the chan and disperses cold D Bai Shao 9g helps Dang Gui tonifies blood; w/ Gui Zhi harmonizes ying and wei, helping elim cold from superficial aspects of body	Blood defic w/ cold in the channels	Long standing cold hands and feet that are both cold to the touch and feel very cold to the patient T: pale w/ white coat P: submerged thin or so thin that barely perceptible	Warms the channels, disperses cold, nourishes the blood and unblocks the blood vessels Varition of Gui Zhi Tang Diff from yin or cold type collapse in that only the hands and feet are cold, not the entire limb. If yin collapses, there will be lethargy, increased desire to

	and ext cold A Zhi Gan Cao 6g and A Da Zao 25pcs augment qi and strengthen SP; assist in tonifying blood and in facilitating flow of yang qi E Mu Tong 6g facilitates the flow in the channels and vessels which strengthens effects of other herbs and focuses effects on the channels		of conditions w/ cold invading the channels w/ blood defic. Common manifestations include joint pain, irreg menses, abd pain and cold, pain in lower back and legs	sleep, watery diarrhea an deep pulse – use Si Ni Tang. Yang or hot type collapse is due to constrained qi, condition of longer duration, hands and feet colder to the pt, aversion to heat...-- use Si Ni San
YANG HE TANG Yang Heartening Decoction	C Shu Di Huang 30g tonifies blood C Lu Jiao Jiao 9g assists in tonifying blood an also tonifies yang D Rou Gui 3g and D Pao Jiang 1.5g assist in tonifying yang and also enter the nutritive level to disperse cold and unblock areas of stagnation A Bai Jie Zi 6g expels phlegm lodged just beneath the skin A Ma Huang 1.5g opens the interstices and pores and helps lead out the cold E Gan Cao 3g harmonizes	Yin-type localized swelling (yin ju) Encompasses problems in flesh and muscles and also joints (ie, crane's knee-wind, he xi feng, swollen and painful knee joint accom by wasting of thigh and calf muscles Occurs in pts w/ blood defic when cold or phlegm congeals in an area of musle, sinew, bone or blood vessel	Localized painful swellings w/o heads that blend into the surrounding tissue and do not effect the texture or color of the skin, and are not hot to the touch. There is no thirst T: very pale P: submerged thin forceless	Warms the yang, tonifies the blood, disperses cold, and unblocks areas of stagnation Cloying herbs don't stag b/c of moving herbs; moving herbs don't damage qi b/c of chief tonifying herbs Treats swelling and root (blood defic), called "finding the yang w/in yin" Expanded to treat coughing, wheezing, pain in joints, dysmenorrhea. Consider for any blood defic and cold stag (lusterless pale complex...)

FORMULAS THAT WARM THE MIDDLE AND DISPEL COLD

Formula Name	Herbs and Functions	Diagnosis	Indications	Comments
A LI ZHONG WAN Regulate the Middle Pill	C Gan Jiang 9g warms the SP and ST yang and elim interior cold D Ren Shen 9g strongly tonifies source qi which reinforces yang and rectifies ascending and descending actions of M.J. A Bai Zhu 9g aids Ren Shen in tonifying SP and ST and dries damp One warming, one tonifying, one drying effective in treating M.J. E Zhi Gan Cao 9g augments qi of M.J., harmonizes	Cold in M.J. from defic or M.J. yang defic "When yang is defic, yin ascends"	Diarrhea w/ watery stool, nausea and vomiting, no partic thirst, loss of appetite, abd pain T: pale w/ white coat P: submerged thin Can use for sudden turmoil disorder w/ cold; spitting fluids due to cold in chest during recovery from chronic illness; chronic bleeding; childhood convulsions; painful obstruction of chest from yang defic	Warms the M.J. and strengthens the SP and ST Also called Ren Shen Tang; Zhi Zhong Tang and Ren Shen Li Zhong Tang Hou Po Wen Zhong Tang also treats diarrhea due to cold in M.J. That formula strongly dries dampness and promotes movement of qi, but doesn't tonify – it's for invasion of damp cold This formula is for cold from defic w/ cold but no dampness
FU ZI LI ZHONG WAN Prepared Aconite Pill to Regulate the Middle	Fu Zi 90g Gan Jiang 90g Ren Shen 90g Bai Zhu 90g Zhi Gan Cao 90g	For more severe internal cold than Li Zhong Wan	Abd and epigastric pain, vomiting and diarrhea, inability to keep food down, a cold body w/ very cold extremities, mild sweating P: faint	Warms the yang, dispels cold, augments the qi, and strengthens the SP Also very effective for chronic or recurrent ulcers due to cold from defic of the SP and ST

B WU ZHU YU TANG Evodia Decoction	C Wu Zhu Yu 9-12g warms the ST; warms and soothes the LV, and directs rebellious qi down D Sheng Jiang 18g helps chief stop vomiting by warming the ST and directing qi down A Ren Shen 9g strengthens SP to treat cold from defic; promotes generation of fluids and calms spirit E Da Zao 12pcs moderates dry acrid properties of chief and deputy, and supports qi tonifying action of Ren Shen	(1)cold from defic of ST (2)cold from defic of LV and ST. (cold yin rebelling up follows course of LV ch) (3)cold attacking M.J.	(1)vomiting immed after eating, indeterminate gnawing hunger, and acid regurgitation w/ or w/o abd pain (2)dry heaves or spitting of clear fluids w/ vertex HA (3)vomiting and diarrhea w/ cold hands and feet, and agitation so severe that pt wants to die T: not red, white slippery coat P: thin slow or thin wiry	Warms and tonifies the LV and ST, directs rebellious qi down, and stops vomiting Primary fx of formula is to stop vomiting "when cold resides in the ST and intestines, it strongly rebels upward to depart. This leads to pain and vomiting" treats wide range of conditions w/ vomiting due to LV and ST disharmony
B XIAO JIAN ZHONG TANG Minor Construct the Middle Decoction	C Yi Tang 18-30g tonifies and moderates spasmodic abd pain C Gui Zhi 9g warms the M.J. and disperses cold. W/ Yi Tang warms and tonifies the M.J. D Bai Shao 18g harmonizes ying and wei w/ Gui Zhi A Zhi Gan Cao 6g works w/ Bai Shao to treat spasmodic abd pain; also harmonizes fx of M.J. E Sheng Jiang 9g and E Da Zao 12pcs harmonizes ying and wei Balances actions of warm and sweet herbs, which restores the yang fx to the M.J., w/ the actions of Bai Shao which preserves yin	Spasmodic abd pain due to consumptive defic (xu lao) Internal injury due to consumption (brought on by overwork, improper habits, poor diet etc) leads to cold defic of M.J. When abd loses its yang qi, result is intermittent spasmodic abd pain	Intermittent spasmodic abd pain that responds favorably to local application of warmth and pressure, a lusterless complexion, reduced appetite. May also be low grade fever, palpitations (SP feeding off HT), irritability, cold and sore extremities w/ nonspecific discomfort, and a dry mouth and throat T: pale w/ white coat P: thin wiry moderate	Warms and tonifies the M.J. and moderates spasmodic abd pain Popular formula for wide variety of consumptive disorders from yang defic Same as Gui Zhi Jia Shao Yao Tang + Yi Tang Can be used to treat heat due to lack of reg b/w ying and wei (treating heat w/ sweet and warm substances). Characteristic low grade fever often accom cold extrem and desire for hot drinks
HUANG QI JIAN ZHONG TANG Astragalus Decoction to Construct the Middle	Add Huang Qi		For more severe qi defic characterized by spontaneous sweating, SOB, occasional fever. Also for dull pain in ST better w/ warmth and pressure, worse on empty ST fatigue indigestion	Very common in treatment of pediatrics Common in peptic ulcers and chronic allergies

FORMULAS THAT RESCUE DEVASTATED YANG

Formula Name	Herbs and Functions	Diagnosis	Indications	Comments
A SI NI TANG Frigid Extremities Decoction	C Sheng Fu Zi 1pc (6-9g) very hot, acrid, warms and stimulates KI yang so it disseminates thru body and reaches extremities D Gan Jiang 4.5g warms the M.J. and elim cold, which strengthens the SP fx of transforming and transporting flood and fluids. Synergistic w/ Fu Zi; helps Fu Zi strengthen KI yang, while Fu Zi helps Gan Jiang strengthen SP yang. Fu Zi warms entire body thru all 12 channels, Gan Jiang focuses on SP, ST and LU A Zhi Gan Cao 6g augments qi, strengthens SP, reduces toxicity of Fu Zi and moderates Fu Zi and Gan Jiang's drying properties	KI yang defic accom by increase of internal cold Causes SP yang to become defic Yang qi nourishes spirit, when defic, spirit will weaken 2 etiologies: (1) chronic yang qi defic; (2) devastated yang due to excessive sweating. Both are lesser yin stage disorders where pathogenic cold gains access to lesser yin and attacks KI	Extremely cold extremities, aversion to cold, sleeping with the knees drawn up, a lethargic state w/ constant desire to sleep, vomiting, diarrhea w/ undigested food in stool, abd pain and cold, lack of thirst T: pale w/ white slippery coat P: submerged thin or submerged faint	Rescues devastated yang, warms the M.J., and stops diarrhea Doesn't injure yin should use during early stage of disorder called "collapsing rebellion" (jue ni) or "frigid extremities (si ni). 3 types of collapsing disorder: (1) emotional prob w/ sensation of qi rushing from abd to chest; (2) sudden fainting; (3) extreme cold in extremities can be used for treating true cold and false heat
SI NI JIA REN SHEN TANG Frigid Extremities Decoction Plus Ginseng	Add Ren Shen	Severe injury to the qi and blood, which harms the source qi	If the diarrhea ceases but the extremities remain cold (indicating severe injury to the qi and blood, which harms the source qi)	Focuses more on nourishing the yin (fluids) and yang (qi) aspects of this type of collapse
TONG MAI SI NI TANG	Zhi Gan Cao 6g Sheng Fu Zi 1 big pc (12-15g)	Lesser yin stage disorders w/ interior cold and interior heat	Diarrhea w/ undigested food particles, cold extremities, no aversion to cold, faint or hidden	Restores the yang and unblocks the pulse More serious condition than Si Ni

Unblock the Pulse Decoction for Frigid Extremities	Gan Jiang 9g	Or Lesser yin stage disorder w/ relatively severe yang defic of the HT	have a flushed face or the diarrhea may cease or the pulse may be imperceptible	Tang is indicated for. The yin is so overly strong that the yang separates from it and floats to the exterior.
B SHEN FU TANG Ginseng and Prepared Aconite Decoction	C Ren Shen 30g (12g) sweet, warm, strongly tonifies the SP and the source qi within the LU; stabilizes conditions of imminent collapse (nourishes, tonifies and strengthens) D Fu Zi 15g (9g) warms and tonifies the true yang Both restore yang and rescue from collapse	Yang defic w/ severe defic of source qi and sudden collapse of the yang qi	Cold extremities, sweating, weak breathing and SOB, dizziness, and extremely pale complexion T: pale P: faint (almost imperceptible)	Restores the yang, strongly tonifies the source qi, and rescues the qi from collapse due to devastated yang When yang suddenly collapses, fx's of ascending, descending, entering and leaving come to a halt, presenting life threatening condition

FORMULAS THAT STABILIZE THE KIDNEYS

Formula Name	Herbs and Functions	Diagnosis	Indications	Comments
JIN SUO GU JING WAN Metal Lock Pill to Stabilize the Essence	C Sha Yuan Ji Li 60g tonifies the KI and benefits essence, stops leakage of semen by stabilizing gate of essence D Lian Zi 120g assist in stabilizing gate of essence and restraining semen D Qian Shi 60g same as Lian Zi A Su Zhi Long Gu (crispy fried) 30g suppress blazing fire and prevent spermatorrhea A Duan Mu Li (calcined) 30g same as Long Gu A Lian Xu 60g binds semen and stops leaking Take w/ salted water on an empty ST	Spermatorrhea from defic of KI (instability of the gate of essence) LV depends on KI for nourishment (water) and KI depends on LV to spread qi properly. If KI defic, it cannot store essence, the gate of essence becomes destabilized and spermatorrhea results (usually chronic) When KI and LV yin are defic, defic fire blazes and disturbs essence chamber which leads to intemperate spreading of essence or spermatorrhea	Chronic spermatorrhea, impotence, fatigue and weakness, sore and weak limbs, lower back pain, tinnitus, incontinence of urine T: pale w/ white coat P: thin frail Used for myasthenia gravis	Stabilizes the KI and binds up the semen Simultaneously tonifies KI (root) and stops leakage (branch), it is weighted towards treating the branch. Once the spermatorrhea has ceased, KI tonics should be used. While most often used for chronic spermatorrhea and incontinence of urine, it can be used for any condition from loss of essence Spermatorrhea can also be caused by KI and LV yin defic w/ fire blazing. This formula should be modified to treat this presentation
SANG PIAO XIAO SAN Mantis Egg-Case Powder	C Sang Piao Xiao 30g (9-12g) tonifies the KI, stabilizes essence and stops leakage. Treats root and manifestation C Long Gu 30g (12-30g) helps bind essence, calms spirit and steadies the will D Ren Shen 30g (9-12g) strongly tonifies source qi. Strong qi is prereq for healthy mind D Fu Shen 30g (9-12g) calm the spirit and steady the will. Establishes connection b/w HT qi and KI D Yuan Zhi 30g (3-6g) same as Fu Shen. Facilitates connection b/w KI qi and HT	Frequent urination and/or incontinence from HT and KI qi defic. Sometimes this disorder is known as Bladder losing its restraint (pang guang shi yue) b/c the Bladder depends on the KI to transform qi which gives it the power to restrain it. Etiology related to problems with the relationship b/w the spirit (HT) and will (KI). When the KI are defic, they can't store properly Mental fx's are important	Frequent urination (sometimes to the point of incontinence), urine the color of rice water (gray and cloudy) sometimes accompanied by spermatorrhea. Other signs and symptoms include disorientation, forgetfulness T: pale, w/ white coat P: thin, slow, frail	Regulates and tonifies the HT and KI, stabilizes the essence, and stops leakage. Source text attributes this disorder to excessive sexual activity, but it can be used to treat childhood enuresis w/ disorientation and forgetfulness, pale tongue w/ white coat and thin frail slow pulse

	D Chang Pu 30g (6-9g) same as Fu Shen. Opens sensory orifices of HT and spirit A Zhi Gui Ban 30g (9-15g) and A Dang Gui 30g (6-9g) nourish the blood and yin. W/ Gui Ban nurtures yin, supplements essence, regulates and tonifies qi and blood, which allows for revitalization	treatment of this problem
SUO QUAN WAN Shut the Sluice Pill	C Yi Zhi Ren 9-12g warms the KI and helps grasp qi (referring to control over urination - qi of the Bladder- rather than breath); also warms the SP, which assists in governing fluids; stabilizes and binds urine D Wu Yao 6-12g disperses cold (excess or defic) in the L.J. and helps transform Bladder qi and restrain urination. Esp good for dispersing cold b/w KI and UB A Shan Yao 9-15g strengthens the SP, tonifies the KI and binds the essence	Defic cold of the KI causing Bladder to lose its restraint	Frequent, clear and prolonged urination or enuresis T: pale w/ white coat P: submerged, frail	Warms the KI, dispels cold, shuts off urinary frequency, stops leakage When KI qi is restored it will reassert its control over the fx's of the UB, and urinary frequency will cease. This formula is weak and often unable to resolve problem by itself w/ the exception of children.

GUI ZHI JIA LONG GU MU LI TANG Cinnamon Twig Decoction Plus Dragon Bone and Oyster Shell	C Gui Zhi 9g warms the yang C Bai Shao 9g restrains the yin. W/ Gui Zhi regulates ying and wei and helps restore commun b/w yin and yang (HT and KI) D Long Gu 9g anchors yang so it reunites w/ yin D Mu Li 9g esp good at helping yin restrain yang. W/ Long Gu they weigh down the chief ingredients so they work on a deeper level than they would normally A Sheng Jiang 9g and A Da Zao 12pcs reinforce regulating and nourishing action of chiefs E Gan Cao 6g harmonizes	Defic of yin and yang and lack of communication b/w HT and KI. It is a consumptive disorder w/ loss of essence at its basis Etiology is excess sex or loss of blood	Spermatorrhea (in men) or dreaming of sexual intercourse (in women), lower abd contraction and pain, a cold sensation at the tip of the penis, occasionally watery diarrhea, dizziness, palpitations, insomnia and dream-disturbed sleep, loss of hair T: P: hollow, slow For victims of sexual abuse, relationship problems; fear of commitment, promiscuity, etc.	Restrains the essence, suppresses rebellion, and regulates and harmonizes the yin and yang Application expanded to include any condition of yin defic and unstable yang, even w/o signs of sexual dysfx. Condition arises often from overwork or chronic constraint w/ such symptoms as night sweats w/ temperature intolerance, palp, dream-disturbed sleep, pale tongue, forceless pulse. FORMULAS THAT STABILIZE THE WOMB

Formula Name	Herbs and Functions	Diagnosis	Indications	Comments
GU CHONG TANG Stabilize Gushing Decoction	C Chao Bai Zhu 30g augment qi and strengthen SP C Huang Qi 18g same as Bai Zhu. These 2 help SP govern blood and stabilize Chong D Shan Zhu Yu 24g nourish yin and blood of LV and KI and exert astringent binding effect on the blood. Treat instability of Chong and injury to blood and yin from blood loss D Bai Shao 12g same as Shan Zhu Yu A Duan Long Gu 24g and A Duan Mu Li 24g and A Hai Piao Xiao 12g and A Zong Lu Tan 6g and A Wu Bei Zi 1.5g restrain leakage and stop bleeding A Qian Cao Gen 9g protects against stasis from astringent herbs; stops bleeding and invigorates blood	Uterine bleeding from weak SP and Chong Long term uterine bleeding regardless of its cause will injure middle (SP) qi and SP will not be able to govern blood. At the same time the Chong will become unstable and will not be able to ensure the regularity of the menstrual cycle. The Chong is assoc w/ the yang brightness channel and when SP and ST are defic, the Chong becomes defic. This is the root. However, blood defic will also affect the LV and KI. And Chong defic will affect Ren	Uterine bleeding or profuse menstrual bleeding in which the blood is thin and pale, and either gushes out or continuously trickles out. Accompanying signs and symptoms include palpitations, SOB, T: pale P: defic and big or thin and frail	Augments qi, strengthens SP, stabilizes Chong and stops bleeding. Focus is on strengthening SP because Chong and Ren are dependent on the SP and ST channels and organs to keep the sea of blood and qi filled. "To treat the blood, first treat the SP." Gui Pi Tang is for less severe bleeding w/ more signs of HT blood prob. Not used for such excessive bleeding as in abandoned disorder (i.e., profuse sweat, cold limbs and faint pulse)
GU JING WAN Stabilize the Menses Pill	C Gui Ban 30g enrich yin and nourish blood; treat heat symptoms from yin defic C Bai Shao 30g enrich yin, nourish blood D Huang Qin 30g clears upper burner heat	LV constraint giving rise to heat, which disturbs the Chong and Ren. This type of heat from constraint is considered a type of defic heat from loss of equilibrium of yin and yang. The blood becomes hot and moves	Continuous menstruation or uterine bleeding that alternates b/w trickling and gushing of blood. The blood is very red and may contain dark purple clots. Accom signs and symptoms include a sense of heat and irritability in the chest, abd pain, dark	Enrich the yin, clears heat, stops bleeding, stabilizes menses. Qing Ren Gu Jing Tang (Clear heat from Ren and stop bleeding decoction) Sheng Long Gu Sheng Mu Li

	D Huang Bai 9g clears lower burner heat and heat from defic. Huang Qin and Bai w/ the chiefs control fire by fortifying yin A Xiang Fu 7.5g reg qi and relieves LV constraint; acrid, but doesn't injure yin A Chun Gen Pi 21g binds blood and prevents abandoned disorder from developing from long-term blood loss	recklessly. Also tends to congeal blood. Yin defic usually precedes this disorder & is aggrav by blood loss	urine T: red P: rapid, wiry	Gui Ban Zhi Zi Huang Qin E Jiao Chong Shu Pi Xue Yu Tan Di Yu (last 3 are to stop bleeding)
ZHEN LING TANG Rouse the Spirit Special Pill Daoist formula	Yu Liang Shi 120g stop bleeding by warming womb and stabilizing lower body Zi Shi Ying 120g same as Yu Liang Shi Chi Shi Zhi 120g same as Yu Liang Shi Dai Zhe Shi 120g same as Yu Liang Shi Ru Xiang 60g invig blood and transform stasis; reg qi and alleviate pain Mo Yao 60g same as Ru Xiang Wu Ling Zhi same as Ru Xiang Geng Mi 120g augments qi of LU and SP and warms M.J.; mildly addresses the defic that underlies the condition Zhu Sha 30g calms the spirit	Uterine bleeding due to cold from defic of the Chong and Ren, which causes blood to stray from the channels and stagnates	Continuous uterine bleeding of purplish-red or dark purple blood w/ clots, pain and tenderness of the lower abd that diminishes w/ the passage of clots T: dark purple (possibly w/ purple spots) P: submerged, thin, wiry Not for cold from defic of preg, or d-h	Stabilizes uterine bleeding and transforms blood stasis Source text recommends this formula for vaginal discharge from cold defic w/ blood stasis in women; and in men for severe depletion of the true source qi due to overindulgence in sex and work, which causes excess above and defic below. Sx include periumbilical pain, generalized aches and pains, light-headedness, dizziness, vertigo, disorientation Can also stop chronic diarrhea b/c many minerals
SHOU WU GOU QI TANG	He Shou Wu Gou Qi Zi Tu Si Zi Du Zhong Sang Piao Xiao Chi Shi Zhi Gou Ji Shu Di Huo Xiang Sha Ren	KI defic vaginal discharge	Profuse thin clear, severe lower back pain w/ cold T: pale, thin white P: deep slow

WAN DAI TANG	C Chao Bai Zhu 30g strengthen SP and augment qi. Also dry damp C Chao Shan Yao 30g strengthen	Vaginal discharge from dysfx of Dai. Dai has close relationship w/ SP and	Profuse vaginal discharge that is white or pale, thin, not partic foul smelling and usually continuous. Accom sx include fatigue,	Tonifies middle burner, strengthens the SP, transforms damp, stops vaginal discharge The author of the formula, Fu

AN GONG NIU HUANG WAN Calm the Palace Pill with Cattle Gallstone	C Niu Huang 30g bitter cool and aromatic and clears heat from HT and LV. Its aromatic prop vent heat to the exterior by way of the collaterals of the PC. Relieves toxicity & dislodges phlegm to open sensory orifices, extinguish wind, stop spasms, tremors or convulsions. Addresses everything C Xi Jiao 30g enters nutritive and blood levels and imp in clearing fire from HT, LV, and ST channels. It clears heat from HT, calms spirit, cools the blood, relieves toxicity. Its cool aromatic prop vent pathogenic heat from PC C She Xiang 7.5g aromatically opens orifices and revives spirit from all 12 channels. Essential in treating this disorder where sensory orifices are blocked by phlegm D Huang Lian 30g and D Huang Qin 30g and D Zhi Zi 30g conduct heat down, helping Niu Huang and Xi Jiao clear and drain heat toxin from PC D Xiong Huang 30g dislodges phlegm, relieves toxicity, helps to open orifices by draining turbid phlegm D Bing Pian 7.5g and D Yu Jin 30g aromatically unblock orifices and disperse heat from constraint, helping chiefs vent heat thru collaterals of PC A Zhu Sha 30g and A Zhen Zhu 15g sedate HT and calm spirit while clearing heat from HT and LV channels E Honey harmonize ST, reg M.J. E Gold Leaf coating calms spirit	Warm febrile disease sinking to PC w/ turbid phlegm veiling the sensory orifices Serious stage in the progression of warm febrile disease "all pathogenic influences that appear to be in the HT are in the collateral of the HT's wrap [i.e., PC]" Vital Axis ch. 71 this presentation may also occur when vigorous internal heat congeals the fluids into phlegm which veils sensory orifices and impairs consciousness this pattern may also be viewed as hot type closed disorder due to phlegm heat obstructing the HT orifices. Often occurs in childhood convulsions or coma due to wind stroke combo of impaired consciousness, stiff tongue and very cold extremities (distal to the elbow) is called "limb collapse" (zhi jue) (int accum/obstruct. From path heat confining yang qi in interior)	High fever, irritability and restlessness, delirious speech, impaired consciousness. Also for coma due to wind stroke or childhood convulsions w/ similar presentation, and for stiffness of tongue and frigid extremities. T: red or deep red P: rapid	Clears heat, relieves toxicity, dislodges phlegm, opens the orifices, and calms the spirit. Authored by Wu Ju-Tong who stated: "the aromatic ingredients of this formula transform turbidity and benefit all the orifices; the salty and cold ingredients protect the KI water and calm the body of the HT; the bitter and cold ingredients unblock the fire in the yang organs and drain the HT." Both the phlegm and heat are very strong. Unless the phlegm is cleared, it will be difficult to clear the heat Wen Bing formula Source text states for pts w/ defec pulse pills should be taken w/ decoction of Ren Shen and for excessive pulse w/ decoction of Jin Yin Hua and Bo He. DI TAN TANG Scour Phlegm Decoction	Ban Xia 6.6g dries dampness and transforms phlegm, directs rebellious qi down, harmonizes ST and stops vomiting Ju Hong 6g reg qi and dries damp, enabling qi to be restored to normal and reducing the phlegm Fu Ling 6g strengthens SP and leeches out damp Gan Cao 1.5g harmonizes M.J. and formula Zhi Shi 6g and Zhu Ru 2.1g and Dan Nan Xing 6.6g powerful combo for breaking stag qi, reducing accum, directing qi down, drying damp, elim phlegm, clearing heat and dispersing wind phlegm in the channels Shi Chang Pu 3g aromatically opens orifices Ren Shen 3g supports normal qi and strengthens SP Decocted w/ Sheng Jiang and Da Zao	Internal obstruction from excessive phlegm Smooth movement of fluids has ceased, they accum and form phlegm	Stiffness of the tongue and speech impairment due to excessive accum of phlegm which spreads throughout body, or phlegm moving upward under the influence of internal wind	Scours out phlegm, opens orifices, and tonifies qi 1st 4 herbs are Er Chen Tang -- basic formula for treating impaired speech following wind stroke from phlegm veiling HT orifices, and thus the tongue. Based on the actions of its ingredients, its use has been expanded to include wheezing w/ copious sputum and focal distention and fullness in the chest from obstruction of qi in the chest by phlegm. Er Chen Tang + Wen Dan Tang
GUN TAN WAN Vaporize Phlegm Pill	C Duan Meng Shi 30g drives out phlegm; directs qi down, calms wheezing, drives out chronic hidden accum of phlegm, and arrests palpitations. It is calcined to ensure rapid dispersion of its properties D Da Huang 240g bitter cold and cleanses fire from upper burner (LU) by directing it down thru lower burner (LI); it thereby unblocks the obstruction of the yang organs creating path for removal of phlegm-fire D Huang Qin 240g clears fire from U.J. to prevent scorching of fluids which would generate more phlegm. The large dosage of the deputies is to thoroughly transform the root of the disorder A Chen Xiang 15g regulates qi, rapidly directing it down. Regulating qi is imp since it is the qi which impels the movement of fluids in the body.	Combo of heat excess and chronic phlegm or phlegm fire	Mania (kuang)-withdrawal (dian) and palpitations with anxiety; or severe, continuous palpitations which can lead to coma (if ascends to HT); or coughing and wheezing w/ thick viscous sputum (if collects in LU); or focal distention and a stifling sensation in the chest and epigastrium (if stays in chest); or dizziness, vertigo and tinnitus (if ascends to sensory orifices of head). In each of these cases there is constipation. There may also be facial tics (if phlegm in the channels), insomnia or very strange dreams, sudden deep pain in the joints that is diffic to describe, nodules in neck, or a choking sensation T: yellow thick greasy coat P: slippery rapid forceful	Drains fire and drives out phlegm This formula is suitable for a wide variety of disorders including childhood convulsions, painful obstruction of chest, scrofula, and drum-like distention, provided that it is a problem of excessive heat and phlegm and partic if located in both the intestines and ST. Generally, if spirit disorders are the result of phlegm-fire, it is best to use downward draining herbs that indirectly clear U.J. heat by reducing accum of heat in L.J. this is another example of "removing the firewood from under the cauldron" when phlegm-fire is drained, spirit will be gradually restored. For this reason, formulas like Da Cheng Qi Tang can treat manic behavior in context of yang ming organ stage heat.

TONG GUAN SAN Open the Gate Powder	Zao Jiao warm acrid and scours out phlegm, opens orifices, and revives spirit/consciousness. Xi Xin warm acrid dispersing and unblocks channels; partic effective in unblocking the nose. Both ingredients unblock the jaw ('gate') and open the orifices	Excess type closed disorder due to a sudden attack of fierce pathogenic influences producing turbid phlegm. One type of "comatose collapse" (hun jue) which can be assoc w/ either an excess type (closed) or defec (abandoned). This one is excess resulting from sudden attack of turbid qi, usually from exposure to foul smells, causing qi mech to become rebellious and disordered, resulting in spirit disturbance and sudden constraint and closing of functional activities of qi known as "foulness stroke: (zheng e)	Loss of consciousness, clenched jaw, extreme difficulty in breathing, foaming at the mouth, and a pale ashen complexion	Unblocks the gate (jaw) and opens the orifices Strategy here is to induce sneezing as an emergency measure to open the jaw and orifices. It is based on the relationship among the nose, the LU, and the qi. When the LU is obstructed, obstruction of all sensory orifices may follow, which here manifests as clenched jaw and loss of consciousness. When sneezing is induced, it unblocks and disseminates the LU qi, restoring the fx'al activities of qi, reviving the spirit and restoring consciousness. This is an acute life threatening disorder and treatment must focus exclusively on treating the manifestation as quickly as possible. Strategy is to restore consciousness

FORMULAS THAT MOISTEN DRYNESS AND TRANSFORM PHLEGM

Formula Name	Herbs and Functions	Diagnosis	Indications	Comments
BEI MU GUA LOU SAN Fritillaria and Trichosanthes Fruit Powder	C Chuan Bei Mu 4.5g moistens LU, clears heat, transforms phlegm and stops cough D Gua Lou 3g clears heat, moistens dryness, regulates the qi, and expels phlegm in order to remove the obstruction from the chest and diaphragm A Tian Hua Fen 2.4g clears heat, generates fluids, and transforms phlegm A Fu Ling 2.4g strengthens SP A Ju Hong 2.4g regulates qi; w/ Fu Ling addresses defic and stag of SP qi which is imp in treating dry phlegm since SP transports fluids to LU – cultivating earth to generate metal A Jie Geng 2.4g encourages proper flow of LU qi and treats throat problems	Dry phlegm Caused by dryness in the LU which injures fluids and causes phlegm	Cough w/ deep seated sputum that is diffic to expectorate, wheezing, a dry and sore throat T: red, dry, little coat P: rapid, thin but strong CI in cough from yin defic	Moistens the LU, clears heat, regulates the qi and transforms phlegm Variation of Er Chen Tang w/ substitution of herbs that moisten and transform phlegm for Ban Xia which is acrid and warm and would further injure LU yin Damp phlegm is generated in SP; dry phlegm is generated in LU. However, this formula includes SP strengthening herbs b/c root of all phlegm disorders is in dysfx of water metabolism, specif trasportive and transformative fx's of SP

FORMULAS THAT TRANSFORM PHLEGM AND DISSIPATE NODULES

Formula Name	Herbs and Functions	Diagnosis	Indications	Comments
XIAO LUO WAN Reduce Scrofula Pill	Zhe Bei Mu 120g clears heat and dissipates nodules due to phlegm Mu Li 120g effective in softening and dissipating hard masses or nodules Xuan Shen 120g treats fire from defic and useful in treating problems of the throat and neck due to fire. All of these cold herbs disperse nodules and reduce swelling	Nodular masses on the neck due to phlegm fire Form of scrofula (side of neck) (luo li) or goiter (front of neck) (ying). General term is phlegm nodules (tan he) Pathogenesis is usually depletion of LV and KI yin giving rise to defic fire that consumes fluids and produces phlegm. Fire and phlegm coalesce into nodules that are firm and rubbery	Nodules on the neck that are firm and rubbery in consistency accom by dry mouth and throat T: red P: rapid slippery and/or wiry	Clears heat and transforms phlegm to soften and dissipate nodules Authored by Cheng Guo-Peng who considered scrofula to be a manifestation of a LV disorder. LV controls sinews. When blood in the LV channel becomes dry, there is fire. The fire causes the sinews to tighten, which generates scrofula.
HAI ZAO YU HU TANG Sargassum Decoction for the Jade Flask	C Hai Zao 3g (9g) and C Kun Bu 3g (9g) and C Hai Dai 1.5g (9g) salty and soften and dissolve masses. (carry iodine to treat goiter) D Zhe Bei Mu 3g (9g) clears heat and dissipates nodules; synergistic w/ chiefs	Rock-like goiter (shi ying) or qi goiter (qi ying) Caused by stag of dampness, phlegm, qi and blood in the area b/w the skin and flesh on neck. This produces a very hard mass that grows progressively larger. B/c there is no heat yet, there is no pain or color	Masses in the center of the neck which are rock-like in hardness, immobile, cause no change in color of the skin, and do not ulcerate. T: thin greasy coat P: wiry and slippery	Transforms phlegm, softens hard masses, reduces and dissipates goiter Also used for treating superficial tumors in other parts of the body. It is designed for relatively acute disorders that are excessive in nature. For disorders of defic, tonifying ingredients should be added Hai Zao and Gan Cao are traditionally considered

	drying and expels phlegm A Du Huo 3g (9g) expels phlegm A Chuan Xiong 3g (6g) and A Dang Gui 3g (9g) invig blood and relieve stasis A Qing Pi 3g (6g) and A Chen Pi 3g (4.5g) promote movement of qi and relieve constraint A Lian Qiao 3g (9g) clears heat (although no heat signs yet, accum of phlegm, stag qi and static blood often generate heat) E Gan Cao 3g harmonizes, and relieves toxicity esp when combined w/ Lian Qiao	change of skin, nor does this type of mass ulcerate		incompatible, but are often used together for treating goiter in both classical and modern formulas

FORMULAS THAT WARM AND TRANSFORM COLD PHEGGM

Formula Name	Herbs and Functions	Diagnosis	Indications	Comments
LING GUI ZHU GAN TANG Poria, Cinnamon Twig, Atractylodis Macrocephalae, and Licorice Decoction	C Fu Ling 12g strengthens SP and leaches out dampness; thereby transforms congested fluids by addressing root (fluid metabolism) D Gui Zhi 9g warms the yang and improves the transforming power of the qi, wich resolves the congested fluids; and assists in directing rebellious qi down. Combo of these 2 herbs: one increases circ of fluids and the other warms and increases flow of qi is effective in dealing w/ cold due to lingering of congested fluids A Bai Zhu 6g strengthens transformative and transportive fx's of SP, and dries dampness E Zhi Gan Cao 6g augments qi of M.J. (it has a mild tendency to cause stag, but this is counteracted by Fu Ling)	Congested fluids in the epigastrium When SP yang is weak it is unable to transform fluids; this results in congested fluids around the diaphragm and obstructs qi mech; it also blocks the ascent of clear yang and the descent of turbid yin	Fullness in the chest and hypochondria, palpitations, SOB, coughing up clear and watery sputum, and dizziness or vertigo. T: pale and swollen w/ white and slippery or greasy coat P: slippery and either wiry or soggy	Warms and transforms phlegm and congested fluids, strengthens the SP and resolves dampness Discussion of cold induced disorders prescribed this for cases of injury due to cold caused by the improper use of purgatives or emetics, w/ such sx as fullness in the chest and hypochondria w/ vertigo Essentials from the Golden Cabinet recommends it for congested fluids in the epigastric region and notes that congested fluids are resolved thru urine (Fu Ling and Gui Zhi are very effective in promoting urination) i.e., Wu Ling San
SAN ZI YANG QIN TANG Three-Seed Decoction to Nourish One's Parents	Bai Jie Zi 6-9g warms and disseminates the LU qi, reduces phlegm, and relaxes the diaphragm (also regulates water metabolism in LU system, ie pleurisy) Su Zi 6-9g directs the LU qi down and stops coughing and wheezing Lai Fu Zi 6-9g effective in reducing food stag, an in directing qi down and transforming phlegm	Cold in the LU with food stagnation The stag of food is both a cause and effect of SP defic, and can lead to the production of phlegm	Coughing and wheezing, copious sputum, focal distention in the chest, loss of appetite, digestive difficulties T: white greasy coat P: slippery Can use w/ Yu Ping Feng San for LU defic asthma More appropriate for	Directs qi down, telexes the diaphragm, transforms phlegm, and reduces food stagnation Most commonly this disorder is found in elderly (b/c of defic of M.J. qi and blood), but not limited to this group. "whenever herbs that promote flow are overused in the treatment of phlegm, it may result in SP qi defic which can easily lead to the generation of phlegm" Zhu Zhen-Heng
